

Bee's bumble board

Bees can fly for miles looking for food - what do you think they see along the way?

Fold this piece of paper along the lines and stick it together to make a long strip.

Use some double-sided sticky tape to make the board sticky.

Go for a walk and collect little bits to put on your board.

If you haven't got any tape, use a bag to collect your bits and stick things on afterwards with glue.

TIPS

Only use small bits - so that they don't fall off.

How colourful can you make your board?

Can you put things on in the order you found them?

Can you make a pattern or picture with your stuck-on bits?
