

What do birds eat?

Feeding birds

1.

The Blue Tit

Blue tits are found all year round in the United Kingdom and most of Europe, Africa and Asia. Blue Tits have yellow under-parts with blue wings, a blue tail and a blue cap. Adults have white cheeks, but those of the juveniles are yellow. The juvenile Blue Tit is duller than the adult and has a greener crown, wings and tail, and yellow cheek.

What do Blue Tits eat?

Diet: Insects and their larvae, spiders, seeds, fruit, grain, nuts and buds.

Although the blue tit is mainly a woodland bird it is one of our best known garden birds. It will visit feeders to feed on nuts and seeds and eat scraps that are placed on a bird tray or thrown on the ground.